

Josh Cales, General Manager

An experienced and authentic leader skilled in managing complex businesses, Josh is responsible for all aspects of Alerton's global business strategy and implementation. He joined Alerton in 2014 after serving as the regional general manager, Asia Pacific, for UOP Callidus, a Honeywell business that specializes in equipment for refineries and petrochemical plants throughout the world. Reach Josh directly at joshua.cales@alerton.com.

Dwayne Wright, Sales Director

With 31 years of experience in engineering and sales of technical equipment, both domestically and internationally, Dwayne focuses on strengthening Alerton's customer relationships and building a strong sales team. Prior to joining Alerton, Dwayne was a regional sales manager for Honeywell, where he led a sales team serving original equipment manufacturers (OEMs). Contact Dwayne directly at dwayne.wright@alerton.com.

Kevin Callahan, Product Marketing Manager

Kevin's 38 years of experience in the building control technologies field includes control systems design and commissioning, facilities management and user training. An experienced project engineer and project manager, Kevin is an integral member of Alerton's research & development teams and is recognized as a passionate "evangelist" for the business and the Alerton Ascent building automation system. Contact Kevin directly at kevin.callahan@alerton.com.

Stuart Donaldson, Manager of Software Systems Engineering

Stuart has worked at Alerton/Honeywell since 1999, running several different software engineering projects including work on the original WEBtalk product, which provided Alerton's first web access to a building control system. He is now responsible for Alerton's software engineering teams that work to establish global corporate software platforms and system architectures. Stuart has been involved in several architecture initiatives within Alerton, Novar and Honeywell, and also leads Alerton's involvement with the BACnet Standard and the BACnet Committee. Reach Stuart directly at stuart.donaldson@alerton.com.